

PERCUSSION WORKSTATION

Just roll it into place and you're ready to play

Wenger's percussion workstation lets you take everything from cowbells to cymbals with you in a self-contained performance station. This lockable storage solution is a practical work area that doubles as secure percussion storage. This unit contains drawers and shelves to compartmentalize your small to medium size percussion keeping them organized and ready to play. Four foam-lined drawers and a large work top are padded to reduce sound during rehearsal and performance. This unit is lockable to secure instruments when not in use. Heavy-duty casters make the percussion workstation easy to move into position and travel to performance spaces.
